Objective and Investment Policy

Objective

The investment objective is to achieve capital growth.

Investors should be aware there is no guarantee that the Sub-Fund will achieve its investment objective.

Investments

The Sub-Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing primarily in equities and Equity Related Securities predominantly issued by issuers listed, domiciled, or conducting significant business in Emerging Markets, which the Investment Manager believes have undervalued long-term prospects and present opportunities for improved sustainability through active engagement. The Investment Manager believes that these investments have the potential to create value through active engagement with the issuer on a wide range of environmental, social, and governance ("ESG") and other issues bespoke to the issuer's business.

Up to 20% of the Net Asset Value may be invested in the equities and Equity Related Securities of issuers that are listed, domiciled, or conducting significant business in a Frontier Markets country, and up to 10% of Net Asset Value may be invested in securities listed or traded on the Moscow Exchange. The Sub-Fund may also invest up to 30% of its Net Asset Value in A-share of People's Republic of China companies listed on the Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Exchange via Stock Connect.

The Sub-Fund may hold cash and instruments that may be readily converted to cash, including cash deposits, treasury bills, Investment Grade government bonds and short-term corporate bonds (fixed or floating rate), commercial paper, short term money market instruments and certificates of deposit. In normal market conditions, such investment shall not exceed 20% of the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund.

Under normal market conditions, the Investment Manager will target a relatively concentrated portfolio of between 25-40 securities. As a consequence, the Sub-Fund may have a higher level of annualised volatility than a more diversified portfolio.

Benchmark

The Sub-Fund is actively managed and uses the MSCI Emerging Markets Net Total Return Index (USD) (the "Benchmark") for performance comparison purposes only. The Investment Manager's discretion in constructing the portfolio is not limited to, or constrained by, the constituents of the Benchmark. Further, the Sub-Fund has not designated the Benchmark as a reference benchmark for the purpose of the Disclosure Regulation, as it is a broad market index that does not assess or include its constituents on the basis of ESG (as defined below) factors.

Derivatives

The Sub-Fund may use derivatives for efficient portfolio management purposes (as described under the sections of the Prospectus entitled "Efficient Portfolio Management" and "Use of FDI") but only to the extent that such use does not impact the Sub-Fund's investment objective.

The types of FDI in which the Sub-Fund may invest in are limited to (i) futures; (ii) forwards; (iii) options; and (iv) total return swaps.

In addition, the Sub-Fund may make use of derivatives (including derivatives that focus on equities and foreign exchange) for investment purposes to temporarily gain access to markets, reduce risk (e.g. hedge equities and foreign exchange risk) and as a way to reduce the cost of gaining exposure to equities and Equity Related Securities.

Management Process

The Investment Manager aims to achieve the Sub-Fund's investment objective through its fundamentally driven bottom-up approach to high conviction, active Emerging Markets and Frontier Markets investing by identifying companies with underappreciated sources of growing cash flow, and engaging with them on a range of ESG and other issues likely to enhance shareholder value, such as increasing return on capital and lowering the implied cost of capital.

Screening and Analysis

To establish the investment universe, the Investment Manager first excludes certain issuers as described under “Excluded Issuers” below. It then identifies issuers that meet the Investment Manager’s liquidity and market capitalisation requirements.

The Investment Manager selects the Sub-Fund’s holdings from the investment universe by first undertaking a quantitative screening process that tests an issuer’s earnings quality, cash flow and capital structure strength. From there, a qualitative analysis is performed to determine whether the issuer is significantly undervalued. The Investment Manager will favour issuers that can be characterised by deepening competitive advantages, e.g., brand and intellectual property strength, economies of scale, captive consumer demand, and attractive growth opportunities.

This screening and analysis allows the Investment Manager to construct a balanced growth- and value-driven portfolio.

The size of each holding will be determined using the Investment Manager’s in-house portfolio construction process, which is designed to mitigate behavioural biases, as discussed below. The process uses a proprietary conviction scorecard spreadsheet to assess the opportunity cost of an issuer in the context of its total upside. It seeks to mitigate inherent behavioural biases that may arise in the investment process by attributing a conviction score for each position based on an assessment of (i) its intrinsic value, (ii) the likelihood and materiality of engagement success and (iii) its business, management and industry risks. This assessment is supplemented by the application of a macro matrix spreadsheet, which assesses and manages country and currency risk exposures.

Active Engagement

Issuers held in the Sub-Fund’s portfolio will be subject to the Investment Manager’s active engagement process, which involves constructive and purposeful dialogue with issuers, focusing on improvements in their approach to ESG-related issues and optimising other business practices (such as reducing costs while improving performance) with the view to improving sustainability and enhancing value.

This is achieved through direct interaction with issuers, including meetings and on-site visits, presentations, publication of whitepapers and letters to management alongside proxy voting. Such interaction is not intended to, and does not amount to, the exercise of significant influence or management control over the day to day operations of an issuer. The implementation or disregard of the suggestions made by the Investment Manager is ultimately up to the issuer’s management, and there can be no guarantee that the Investment Manager’s suggestions will be implemented by the issuer.

ESG Improvements

The Investment Manager will analyse each issuer and identify the most relevant and material ESG risk factors to its business and engage with management on them. Such engagement may include making suggestions to issuers in respect of their establishment of a long-term sustainability plan, alignment of executive compensation with the issuer’s performance on ESG issues and improving areas such as internal ESG policies, reporting and disclosure and investor relations functions.

The Investment Manager interacts with issuers to share perspectives on establishing long-term key performance indicators on ESG matters relevant to their business including, but not limited to, water usage, renewable energy consumption, reducing carbon emissions, corporate and board diversity and skill development. It also monitors an issuer’s progress on sustainability initiatives and overall ESG ratings by industry rating agencies.

The Investment Manager pursues this engagement approach because it believes that mitigating ESG risks and improving an issuer’s performance on ESG issues will ultimately give rise to higher company valuations and maximise shareholder returns.

Screening, analysis, and engagement is based on information that is publically available and/or provided to the Investment Manager as a minority shareholder as required by regulation.

Excluded Issuers

The excluded issuers specified in the Responsible Investment Policy (as further detailed in the section of the Prospectus entitled “Overview of Responsible Investment Policy”) will be excluded from the investible universe. In addition, companies whose operations, in the Investment Manager’s opinion, contravene the Investment Manager’s responsible investment policy will also be excluded. This currently includes, but is not limited to, companies that derive more than a de minimis proportion of their revenues from operations relating to:

- weapons;
- fossil fuels;
- adult entertainment;
- tobacco;
- alcohol production;
- gambling; and
- any other products and services determined by the Investment Manager to negatively impact sustainable improvements.

The Investment Manager will also exclude from the eligible investment universe issuers that are subject to United Nation, European Union, United Kingdom or United States sanctions due to their systematic breach of standards.

Details of the Investment Manager’s responsible investment policy can be found at <https://qibam.com/about/governance>

Good governance practices of investee companies

The Investment Manager’s analysis of an issuer will include, but is not limited to, its corporate governance structure and practices, such as the soundness of its management structures; the extent of management’s engagement with its workforce and employee engagement scores; the diversity of the issuer’s board; and statistics concerning fatalities, injuries and illness in the workplace and staff turnover.

Disclosures Regulation

The Manager, in conjunction with the Investment Manager, has categorised the Sub-Fund as meeting the provisions set out in Article

8 of the Disclosures Regulation for products that promote environmental and social characteristics. Additional information on the promoted characteristics can be found in the annex appended to this Supplement (“Annex I”).

Taxonomy Regulation

The Sub-Fund promotes environmental and social characteristics as described in the Article 8 of the Disclosure Regulation and may partially invest in economic activities that contribute to environmental and social objectives. It is therefore required to disclose, according to Article 6 of the Taxonomy Regulation, information about the environmentally sustainable investments made.

For the purpose of the Taxonomy Regulation, the Sub-Fund does not presently intend to be invested in investments that take into account the EU criteria for environmental sustainable economic activities. Therefore, as at the date of this Supplement, 0% of the Sub-Fund’s investments are invested in economic activities that qualify as environmentally sustainable under the Taxonomy Regulation.

In circumstances where certain of the Sub-Fund’s assets are invested in economic activities that contribute to environmental and social objectives, the “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments. The EU’s criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities will not be applied to the remainder of the Sub-Fund’s portfolio.

Sustainable investment means an investment in an economic activity that contributes to an environmental or social objective, provided that the investment does not significantly harm any environmental or social objective and that the investee companies follow good governance practices.

The EU Taxonomy is a classification system laid down in Regulation (EU) 2020/852, establishing a list of environmentally sustainable economic activities. That Regulation does not lay down a list of socially sustainable economic activities. Sustainable investments with an environmental objective might be aligned with the Taxonomy or not.

What environmental and/or social characteristics are promoted by this financial product?

The Fund’s strategy (detailed further below) promotes engagement with companies in order to address what the Investment Manager feels, following an assessment process, are an investee companies most material environmental and social risks.

Core to this process is identifying material ESG issues that can be improved by an investee company and in turn further reinforce and strengthen a company’s competitive advantage.

Environmental and social characteristics that are promoted varies widely depending on the sector and geography where the company operates.

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

● What sustainability indicators are used to measure the attainment of each of the environmental or social characteristics promoted by this financial product?

The following sustainability indicators are used to measure the attainment of the relevant environmental or social characteristic of an investee company:

- Companies that have a maximum 0-5% revenue exposure to the below excluded activities:
 - Weapons - nuclear, civilian firearms, controversial (0%)
 - Conventional Weapons (5%)
 - Fossil fuels – oil and natural gas, thermal coal, oil sands, shale gas and oil (0%)
 - Tobacco (5%)
 - Adult entertainment (5%)
 - Alcohol (5%)
 - Gambling (5%)
- ESG-specific data points used to complete a detailed assessment of each issuer. The Fund requires:
 - No companies with very severe controversies defined as an MSCI Red Flag, where covered by MSCI (or similar);
 - No companies with a 'Fail' under compliance with the United Nations Global Compact principles where covered by MSCI (or similar).

The Fund does not make sustainable investments; therefore, the sections relating to objectives of sustainable investments and do no significant harm have been removed.

Does this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

Yes . If, following review against the relevant indicators mentioned above, an investment does not qualify against a particular threshold, the Fund will not make that investment. If the investment does meet the threshold then the Fund can make the investment - assuming all other criteria are met. The impact of the Fund's investments against the relevant indicators will continue to be monitored as outlined above on a periodic basis.

The investment strategy guides investment decisions based on factors such as investment objectives and risk tolerance.

What investment strategy does this financial product follow?

The GIB AM Emerging Markets Active Engagement investment strategy aims to maximize risk-adjusted returns through its proprietary approach to high conviction, active emerging markets investing. The strategy seeks to maximize risk-adjusted returns by investing and engaging on operational and sustainability related topics.

The Investment Manager engages with investee companies in order to recommend actions that can have positive impact on the company's environmental and social standing. The progress of the engagement is monitored with the aim to drive change and improvement in a company's overall sustainability standing in addition to other goals like operational efficiency.

Beginning from the due diligence process on prospect companies, the team identifies and formulates an engagement plan revolving around material environmental and social risks for each company alongside governance and strategic capital allocation issues. This is done before the initial investment is made. This process helps to reduce or mitigate environmental and social risks and negative impact on stakeholders if not improved. Interactions and recommended actions to drive sustainability positive change and improvements with every portfolio company is tracked.

Such analysis is considered a core part of the fundamental, bottom up research process that underpins our Emerging Markets approach. We believe that this approach drives better risk management at both the stock and portfolio level which can enhance returns through a stronger cashflow profile and/or a lower cost of capital.

In the due diligence part of the investment process, the investment team considers principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors as part of the assessment of business risks and opportunities related with a prospect company. Through regular interactions with a prospect company, the investment team is also able to assess the receptiveness and commitment to undertake an improvement on relevant PAI metrics. However, with the lack of relevant data publicly available in the emerging and frontier markets quite commonplace still, alternative metrics may be used to track relevant and comparable sustainability risk factors.

The aim of creating tailored and focused ESG targets and agenda is facilitated by applying the same sustainability framework of Materiality Matrix, Sustainability Strategy and Management Alignment across all portfolio companies. In turn, the success of targets being met is further enhanced when Executives incentives are aligned accordingly.

The initial sustainability engagement is typically a 12-18 month process and involves:

- Materiality Matrix: using a deep stakeholder analysis and survey in order to identify what the most relevant and material ESG risk factors are;
- Sustainability Strategy: establishing an ambitious long-term sustainability plan with a focus on area identified in the Materiality Matrix step; and,
- Management Alignment: incorporating ESG/sustainability KPIs into executive compensation.

We apply this framework across all our investee companies with the aim of creating tailored and focused ESG targets and agenda. By incorporating ESG KPIs into executive compensation schemes, we believe we increase the chances of the successful delivery of the plan.

The purpose of the engagement plan is to reduce the exposure to the identified risk factors or negative impact the company's operations might have on the environment and stakeholders around it, for example reducing carbon emission, increasing gender diversity or introducing mechanism that may improve its human capital engagement level.

The strategy is underpinned by a two pillar process which firstly identifies undervalued businesses through its fundamentally driven bottom-up approach, and secondly engages with all portfolio companies to generate additional alpha from material ESG and operational improvements. This is reflected in a high conviction, concentrated strategy that is both style and benchmark agnostic, with a long-term focus to harness the power of compounding cashflows and active ESG engagement.

- What are the binding elements of the investment strategy used to select the investments to attain each of the environmental or social characteristics promoted by this financial product?

Good governance practices include sound management structures, employee relations, remuneration of staff and tax compliance.

- All GIB AM funds comply with the GIB AM Responsible Investment Policy, which is located at www.gibam.com.
- Each stock in the portfolio has an engagement opportunity specific to the investment that is derived from an environmental, social, or other element;
- The Fund also excludes any company with above threshold revenue exposure to the excluded activities noted earlier in this document.
- The Fund further avoids investment in any companies that are in breach of the UN Global Compact (which refers to OECD Guidelines for Multinational enterprises and UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights) through our exclusion policy.

● What is the committed minimum rate to reduce the scope of the investments considered prior to the application of that investment strategy?

The Fund pursues an investment strategy that includes negative screening and exclusions based on the Investment Manager’s Responsible Investment Policy and strategy more generally. However, it is not possible to ascertain what percentage of the investible universe as a whole is excluded based on that strategy.

● What is the policy to assess good governance practices of the investee companies?

The Investment Manager’s analysis of a company’s governance may include, but is not limited to:

- its corporate governance structure and practices, such as the board of directors’ sense of personal responsibility and influence, and relevance, experience, diversity;
- alignment of management interests;
- evidence of the company upholding the highest operational, accounting, and ethical standards;
- any past breaches of shareholders rights; and,
- assessment of the issuer’s board; past track record of the controlling shareholder at dealing with minority investors; and any past breaches of shareholders right and good corporate governance practices.

All investments in the Fund will be aligned with identified environmental and social characteristics as detailed in this document, and comply with the GIB AM Responsible Investment Policy (including excluded issuers).

● How does the use of derivatives attain the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product?

The Fund has the ability to use derivatives; however, any usage of the derivatives will be for efficient portfolio management purposes only.

To what minimum extent are sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

0% of the Sub-Fund's investments are invested in economic activities that qualify as environmentally sustainable under the EU Taxonomy.

As the Fund will not make sustainable investments, nor investments that are aligned with EU Taxonomy, the EU Taxonomy graphs, minimum share of investments in transitional and enabling activities, and minimum share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective, and minimum share of socially sustainable investment sections are not applicable and have been removed.

What investments are included under “#2 Other”, what is their purpose and are there any minimum environmental or social safeguards?

Not applicable.

Is a specific index designated as a reference benchmark to determine whether this financial product is aligned with the environmental and/or social characteristics that it promotes?

The Fund is actively managed, and while it uses the MSCI Emerging Markets Total Return Index for assessing the Fund's performance, it has not designated the Index as a reference benchmark for the purpose of the Disclosure Regulation.
